“ Randall and Lucille were best friends of my parents. Charlie and Leta Crabtree. They spent many happy times together. Just sitting on the porch and visiting.

When my parents became weak and fragile, the Kennedys drew even closer by sharing their love and compassion.

Rest in peace good and faithful servant.

“ I think what I remember most about Randolph was when he laughed at me one Christmas, I am sure you all remember that day. Plus his home was always open to everybody. A man with a beautiful heart.

“ A true gentleman and a great family man, which I have known, I guess my entire life. Our families have joined together for a lot of memories and as kids when we were misbehaving when Randolph corrected us we all listened. He will be missed by so many. Our love and condolences to the family.
